

1 Imagine if these headlines appeared in this morning's paper:

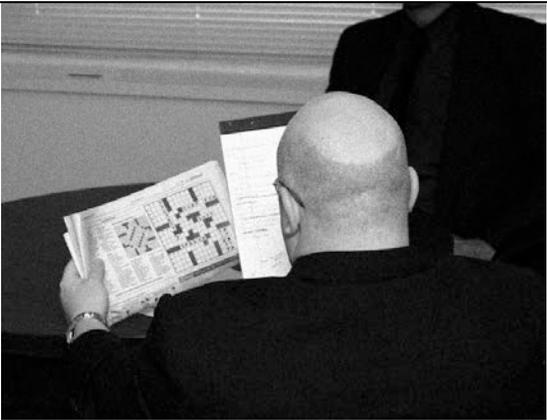

2 Senior Government Executive Killed in Bomb Blast

3 Spies Used Sensitive Information Gleaned from Employees

4	Workers Fired for Violating Rules	 A photograph of a newspaper page. The main headline reads "Workers Fired for Violating Rules". Below it, there is a sub-headline that says "Social Thought From the Star Column Act". The background of the page shows a construction site with a large concrete structure being demolished or broken apart.
5	How could things like this happen in today's era of heightened security? Let's take a look.	 A photograph of a security guard sitting at a workstation. The guard is wearing a blue shirt and a high-visibility orange vest with the word "SECURITY" printed on the back. He is looking at two computer monitors. A yellow sign on the wall behind him says "CCTV in operation".
6	Voice of Agent 1: "We now have everything we need to carry out our plan! How were you able to get this information?"	 A black and white photograph showing two men in suits. One man is in the foreground, seen from the back, looking at a large document or blueprint. Another man in a suit is standing behind him, also looking at the document.

8

Voice of Agent 2: “You wouldn’t believe how easy it was! I was sitting at a restaurant across the street from the government building.”

