

Packaging Mechanisms

Dried meat and poultry products are usually packaged under vacuum or modified atmosphere where oxygen is eliminated. If modified atmosphere packaging (MAP) is used, the total elimination of oxygen is accomplished through the use of oxygen scavengers, which are added in the packaging process, either in packets or incorporated into the film. These scavengers remove any residual oxygen that may still be present after packaging.